

UNC REX HEALTHCARE PROFESSIONAL PRACTICE MODEL

PATIENTS, FAMILY, AND COMMUNITY are cared for while in a vulnerable state and depend upon our support. We are committed to support our community members to help them achieve their most optimal state.

EXCELLENCE is achieving top performance in patient safety, professional accountability, and lifelong relationships with our patients

COMPASSION is expressed through empathy and demonstrated through expertise, reinforcing the Carolina Care® culture.

EDUCATION is continued through lifelong learning and academic progression, to gain the knowledge and skills necessary for achieving the best patient outcomes.

TEAMWORK is collaboration and cooperation focused among our co-workers and with our colleagues regarding health care needs and values.

COMPETENCE is the delivery of evidence-based, appropriate interventions to demonstrate accountability and autonomy in the prompt delivery of the best patient care.

CARING HEALING ENVIRONMENT is created through implementing relationship-based care and Swanson's caring processes.

RELATIONSHIP-BASED CARE suggests the three most important relationships in health care are the relationship we have with our patients and families, positive relationships with our co-workers, and taking care of ourselves. These relationships create the best environment for care.

SWANSON'S THEORY OF CARING is the framework that supports UNC REX nursing practice through knowing, being with, doing for, and enabling behaviors.
